39th Annual Boar's Head Thanks!

The sounds and sites of the 39th Annual Boar's Head and Yule Log Festival, dedicated to Shirley Slater, have faded. The sets and props have been stored for another year. The costumes are being cleaned, and repair work has begun. Thank you to all of the members of the cast, crews, choirs, orchestra, and production staff and to the Plymouth staff for their time and efforts to make a memorable Festival.

Thank you also to the 188 patrons who contributed more than $16,225, and to an audience totaling more than 2,024 who contributed an additional $6,206 in the freewill offering. The Festival continues to draw new faces who are moved by the sights and sounds of the special story that Plymouth offers to the community. See you next season for the 40th Festival! These special landmark services, totaling 200 the final night, will honor all of those persons who have been involved in the Festival over the forty years. Mark your calendars now and plan to fill our Sanctuary each service on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday December 28, 29, and 30, 2014. "Oh, Come all ye Faithful!"

From the Senior Pastor

Friends,

What a way to start the new year—with heaps of snow and record-setting negative temperatures, all brought to us by a distortion in the polar vortex.

Polar vortex, you ask? So did I. The polar vortex, I've learned, is the definitive term for upper-level winds, working counter clockwise in a low-pressure weather system, that normally keeps frigid arctic air confined far to our north. On occasion, though, the winds change. The normal patterns break. And when they do, the frigid air slips south, giving us a taste of arctic cold.

This first storm of 2014 has been reported as the coldest, most dangerous blast of polar air to hit the Midwest in decades. The burning chill of the wind brought about a state of emergency in our city and county. Schools were closed, and a slew of activities, among them church services and meetings, were cancelled.

The arctic air, along with its hazards, has now largely receded to a more normal range. The cold remains, but without the heightened degree of danger. I would caution, though, that we not presume too much of normal in our lives. Great storms prompt consideration of new normals.

We are no strangers to storms and states of emergency. I look upon them as strange expressions of grace, inviting us to pause and wonder. What more is in store for us? What else will alter our normal patterns of life? In such pause, relief and regret can often be found. Always, there is opportunity to freshly assess how God is informing our lives.

Howard Thurman once spoke of “pause” as a “very great and intimate privilege.” In our pauses, we see more clearly perhaps; we listen more intently and pray more earnestly. In one such pause, Thurman prayed: “We anticipate tomorrow, not because it is our promise and our due but because there is within us a deep yearning for the fulfillment of that which we have not known before, for the opportunity to be what, if we have another chance, we think we may become.”

As a congregation, we are on the threshold of a new year. It is a brief but ever-so-significant pause in which we are wise to reassess our lives in the flow of the time we are apportioned. It offers us another chance to grow; to seek the better that lies beyond our good; to minister so as to bless rather than curse, to heal rather than harm; to be alert to shifts in weather, and to huddle for mutual care and support; to proclaim gospel, showing love and doing mercy like that of God.

I wish us many such pauses in the new year. I pray they come, not for the purposes of rest, but with the intent that we move on bravely, our hopes unfolding in a journey of integrity that ends in the adoration of the One who is our beginning. So may we all attain peace in the praise and glory of God.

Sincerely,
John P. Gardner

A Moment with the Moderator

Have you seen it? Have you taken a ride on it?? What is it? Why, the new elevator!

Plymouth now has a new elevator in place that will provide access to all floors of Plymouth to all people. Dedication of the elevator took place December 22, immediately following the worship service. This project was made possible by a lead gift from Judy and Al Kuelling. We are so very grateful for their generosity in starting a project that many more Plymouth people also supported with their gifts.

A lot of planning was needed to initiate the removal of the old elevator, adapting the spaces needed for the new equipment and finally installing the new elevator. Chuck Knox spent many hours meeting with the Property Board, project engineers, and making on-site visits. His hard work and diligence as the Plymouth spokesperson was a valuable part of the project. Sam Lipscomb provided and will continue to provide his knowledge and skills in renovating spaces surrounding the new elevator shaft and equipment. We are so very fortunate to have such qualified, dedicated, and skilled Plymouth members that give of themselves for the benefit of all of us.

I could not let you go without saying, “thank you” to Eric Black, as he steps away from being Assistant Moderator. Eric committed four years to the role of leading the church: as Assistant Moderator for one year, Moderator for two years, and then as Assistant Moderator for another year. As he filled these roles in such an exemplary manner, he was a true example of how to share one’s talents with all of Plymouth. I know he will continue to do the same in coming days, as he serves on the Deacons Worship Board, in the balcony managing the sound system on Sundays, and in all the many other ways he helps Plymouth. I will personally miss his devotions and having him sit by me at Executive Council meetings.

I also want to thank Barbara Bugg for her work as Clerk. She has done much to create and compile the records and documents of Plymouth Church. These items are crucially important in providing the history and documentation that is often needed by Boards and Committees as they do the work of the church. Her organizational skills, along with her attention to detail, supports not only the Executive Council but also the staff. Barbara has set a good framework for future Clerks to follow, and we are all very grateful.

2014 will bring new challenges, projects, and needs that will have to be addressed. I know that Plymouth members will step forward and lend their time and individual skills to each and every one of them.

What is the Nature of God?

Adult Chapel Class with Al Kuelling

Sunday February 9, 9:00 am

This will be an interactive stretching of your neurons as we ask questions such as:

- What/who is God? Now and to those in history?
- How do we know God exists? Now, and for those in history?
- What are the characteristics of God? Now, and to those in history?
- What does God do? Now, and for those in history?
- What can God do? Now, and for those in history?

Two scribes from the class will post answers to these and other evocative questions on flip charts. As the charts fill up, they’ll be taped to the wall.

The answers will lead us to see that some of these concepts we hold in common with each other, and some we don’t; some of the concepts were held by people of long ago, and some weren’t; some of the concepts held by the ancients have faded into antiquity, and some still exist.

Most importantly, this will help us understand how, when, and why God is relevant to us as individuals in the world in which we live today. And perhaps help us to be more accepting of folks with concepts different than “my understanding of God.”

Who knows, we may even modify our individual concepts.

Al Kuelling

Green Spotlight on the Nominating Committee

In the past, the Nominating Committee has printed lists of all church members to give to each of the people on the Nominating Committee. This resulted in over 100 back-to-back, single-spaced pages of paper. Thanks to the committee's "green" foresight, the information is now sent to each committee member via a PDF file, which saves paper, ink, money and time!

Thank you, Nominating Committee, for your foresight in making this process more environmentally sound.

IHN News

One of the newest things at IHN is their name. It is now referred to as, "Just Friends – Interfaith Homeless Network." The Board at IHN felt that these words more accurately reflect what IHN is: friends helping friends in the face of homelessness. So you will hear it referred to as "IHN" or "Just Friends" either way it remains the only shelter in Fort Wayne that provides emergency housing to families in need of shelter.

Another new thing at IHN, or Just Friends, is Room #5. Through the generosity of the Emma Feigley Fund, Standish and Knit & Kibitz group, along with volunteers, the room has been transformed into an oasis of cheer and welcome. The drab tan walls of the room have been painted a soothing blue, thanks to painters Jim and Diane Lasley, Anne Hughes, Jan Gibson, and Kathryn Diekhoff. The old stained carpet has been replaced with new carpet, and new beds and mattresses have been purchased and put in place. Window screens have been repaired, along with the replacement of window hardware. New, colorful bedding provided by Betty Barry, Ruth Phillips, Terry Springer, Mary Spath, and the Rudolph Family have added visual and physical warmth. A new dresser donated by Becky Hollingsworth, and a bedside table from Sally Felger, provide storage. David Bayle donated two lamps and a package of bulbs, and Sally Felger added a small floor lamp so there can be light to read by.

The final touch was the frame donated by John Escosa that was placed on the door. It holds a placard that proclaims: "No matter who you are or where you are on life's journey, you are welcome here." This room is sponsored by Plymouth Congregational Church of Fort Wayne, United Church of Christ. By sponsoring this room, Plymouth will have the joy of periodically maintaining it and the furnishings within it, while proclaiming a welcome to all who pass through its door.

Plymouth continues to support Just Friends – IHN, by providing dinners on a rotational basis. This past fall, from September 29 through October 5, the following individuals provided nutritious food and a Plymouth welcome to the guests: Carrie Callaghan, Mary Gilliom, Sandy Moliere, Lois Steere, Beth Smith, Anne Hughes, Gale Cunningham, Becky Hollingsworth, Vida McCray Gardner, Kris Connerly and the Friends, Gail McKinnon, and Cathy Nicholson.

Plymouth's next opportunity to support Just Friends – IHN with meals will be the week of June 29 – July 5, and then again November 30 – December 6. If you have any questions about this activity or would like to participate, please contact Laura Rudolph, rudylfw@yahoo.com, 485-2285.

2013 was another very successful year for our Salem-Magley/Plymouth Church Foods Resource Bank (FRB) growing project, as demonstrated by the year-end final report.

Our check for $23,094.37 will be split equally between Uganda Teso and Dominican Republic-Bateyes. This money makes possible the educational, training, and funding programs overseen by FRB and its member organizations, directly impacting nearly 23,000 people in those countries.

In addition, 2013 saw our combined funding grow to over $223,000, and Plymouth's share in this is nearly $107,000. This has been accomplished through your generosity and commitment to do what Jesus asked of us ... "to care for the least of these." We thank you for what you have made possible over the past nine years, and we look forward to continuing this mission into its 10th year!

FRB Coordinators:

Rick Schilb, Plymouth UCC, Fort Wayne; Kent Girod, Salem UCC, Magley

Thank you to the Plymouth Church Benevolence Committee for the $2,000 Emma Feigley grant supporting this year's FRB mission project. It is special that these two programs are so focused on the same result ... helping those in need. It is a wonderful tribute to Emma's memory!

Plymouth is, indeed, a church with a global mission!
